

ALWAYS IN MOTION

The employees of the Brückner Group companies are also active in their leisure time, and some of them have unusual passions that mean they're always in motion. The energy and experience that they gain from this helps them to give their all at work.

“ Travelling has taught me to see the world through the eyes of others and to enjoy my freedom.”

Eva Wögerbauer, Management Assistant Brückner Servtec

HORSE RIDING is part of everyday life in Mongolia.

TRAVEL COMPANIES offer guided riding tours through breathtaking landscapes.

HOLIDAYMAKERS are accompanied by locals, an interpreter and chefs.

TWO WEEKS is how long a riding tour usually lasts. The participants ride for 20 to 40 kilometres a day.

A HORSE RIDE THROUGH MONGOLIA

All you need for happiness is a good horse: this is also Eva Wögerbauer's life motto. The 25-year-old has worked as a Management Assistant at Brückner Servtec since 2011. Outside of her demanding job, in which she organises the daily life of the management, the ambitious young woman from Siegsdorf has numerous hobbies to help her unwind.

However, the most relaxing so far was perhaps her greatest adventure of all: a riding holiday to Mongolia, during which Eva spent two weeks exploring the expansive and breathtaking landscapes of Mongolia, riding over steppe, through forests and across rivers with nine other participants. “We covered 20 to 40 kilometres a day,” remembers Eva. The group slept in tents and washed in rivers. Food was provided by two chefs who accompanied the ten riding tourists together with eight other locals. Packhorses carried the riders' possessions, the food and the tents through the impressive countryside.

Eva has been riding horses since her childhood. After a long spell out of the saddle, she started training for the fascinating trip three months before departure. The down-to-earth assistant also sings regularly in a gospel choir and gives pilates lessons outside of work. “I always find it easier to relax when I'm active,” says Eva.
